Subject: Rules Review

Dear Certified Fee-Based Practicing Pastoral Counselors and Associates:

Welcome from the Board of Certified Fee-Based Practicing Pastoral Counselors. We are writing to request your assistance/participation in a review of our Administrative Rules. Unlike our the regulations laid out for our Board by the legislature in Article 26, our Administrative Rules are those adopted by our board and approved by the state's Rules Review Commission to help us operate with consistency in procedures that Article 26 did not legislate specifically.

The Rules Review Commission requires us to post our Administrative Rules periodically, to make them available for public review and comment. These are now posted to our website, ncpastoralcounseling.org, and available for public feedback.

There is a link on the site that will allow you to comment on these rules. It will be available between now and November 1, 2015. We ask you to read them through and offer your feedback within that time frame.

Thank you for your your participation.

Sincerely,

John V. Arey, Jr., D.Min., Chair

Carlton,

In reviewing the NC FBPPC rules, I have never understood why the CEU year is not the same as the calendar year.

I would be ok with raising the annual fee for renewal of Certificate status to $200 to help the board financially. I'm also certain that would be frowned upon by others.

3. This is the third response.

Here are some more comments received. I'll be collecting them, but just wanted everyone to be aware of the comments as they come in.

Thanks,

These appear to be in order. Seemingly helpful suggestions: (1) post the 2016 dates for application so that the site seems active. (2) offer more than one timeline for application annually if the numbers are to grow adequately to sustain aging and to be user friendly. Delay leads some to choose to pursue LPC or LMFT (3) contact all forms including licensure renewal online to streamlined simplify and make entire process user friendly Jim Pruett, CFBPPC No. 41 Sent from my iPhone

Hope all are well.

Carlton—

Thanks for the chance to look over these materials.

They look fine to me, and I have no quarrel with “the specific substance of the rule(s).”

I don't know whether you want to bother with relatively trivial issues such as spelling, but I have four observations in the Title 21 document.

I'm aware that it's possible that this could be original language from the legislature which may not be touched, even to correct typos. If so, please feel no need even to respond. I'm just offering these for what they're worth.

21 NCAC 45 .0301 TYPES

(c) The oral examination shall be administered to applicants during the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. A passing score on the oral examination shall be determined by the applicant=s (applicant's) demonstration to the satisfaction of the Board that skills necessary to engage in pastoral counseling and in-depth pastoral psychotherapy are integrated. These skills include but are not limited to: articulation of one=s (one's) theory of pastoral counseling and psychotherapy; use of authority in the pastoral counseling and psychotherapy relationship; and emotional availability for the pastoral counseling and psychotherapy process.

21 NCAC 45 .0701 ISSUANCE OF TEMPORARY CERTIFICATE

(6) Pass the multiple choice components of the Board=s (Board's) written examination which covers knowledge of G.S. 90, Article 26 and The Code of Ethics;

And this last one—I wonder whether that's even a word . . . again, if it's a typo or legal usage, fine.

21 NCAC 45 .0401 CERTIFICATION RENEWAL FORM

The renewal form shall be mailed in the spring of each year with renewal being on or before January 1, of the following year. The form shall ask for current home and business addresses and telephone numbers. Pastoral Counseling Associates shall submit an additional form documentating required supervision.

Further—regarding the Website—the appearance of the dates for the 2015 exam (now past) just looks like a neglected Website. I'd suggest either putting down next year's date, or listing something like "2016 dates to be determined."

To the Board--thanks for the chance to look these over, and for your work on behalf of the board and community.
